

Journeys - Cairns

In the high country where you are above the tree line there is a well used custom that helps you to find your way. Piles of stones are used to act as route markers to help the travel to go the right way. Over time these markers grow in size because of the custom of travellers adding a stone as they pass by, thus making it easier for the next traveller to see.

As a church we are a marker for the community, pointing to them and our selves the way to go so we can have a relationship with God. I invite you if you want to show your willingness and commitment to the church and God to come forward and chose a rock and add it to the small cairn that I have made to represent our church. (Play suitable music as people come forward).

After everyone has had the chance finish with a prayer that asks God to lead us in the paths that he wants us to go.
